

FIRST SNOW

by

Dmitry Filenko

Dmitry Filenko
Moscow, Russia

[day]City Park | Autumn Afternoon

AKIRA (17, blue scarf, headphones around neck) sits alone on a park bench under an old street lamp. He looks at his phone, his expression sad, shoulders slumped.

YUKI (17, red beret, beige coat) approaches along the path. She notices Akira, stops, and glances at his phone over his shoulder with a gentle smile.

Akira looks up, surprised to see her. His expression shifts from sadness to surprise.

Yuki holds out a paper cup with a hot drink. Akira slowly takes it, an uncertain but genuine smile appearing on his face.

They sit together. The first snowflakes begin to fall from the sky. Both look up, then glance at each other. Akira's smile becomes warmer.

[night]Additional Scene Details

NARRATOR

A quiet moment of connection in the autumn park.